Annarita Papeschi is currently employed as Senior Architect at Zaha Hadid Architects, London. Her experience spans over 8 years in international architectural offices across Europe. She formerly graduated in 2003 obtaining Laurea Magistrale in Architettura at Università degli Studi di Firenze (IT). In 2007 she received an additional Master in Architecture and Urbanism from Architectural Association School of Architecture Design Research Lab in London (UK).

Since she joined ZHA in 2007 she has been working on numerous iconic large scale projects as designer and package leader. As an expert for generative and parametric design, she translated the initial design into fully parametrised 3d models for design development, tender documentation and construction documents. She was leading the 12.000 sqm Main Canopy of KAPSARC (Riyadh) from Schematic Design on. After production of tender and construction documents, she contributed to the supervision of the construction on-site. Furthermore, she contributed to the parametric and BIM compliant 3d facade packages for a number of high rise projects including Bratislava Culenova, Farrer Court in Singapore and CityLife in Milan. Her work qualifies through skilful development of iconic designs and her experience to transfer it into build reality.

Annarita is a fully qualified architect (EU) since 2004 and joined ARB in 2009 and RIBA in 2013. She has teaching and lecturing experience in Italy and has exhibited her work in Europe and in the US. In 2013 she started her PhD at the University of Westminster, titled "Adaptive Masterplanning: New Territories of Participation".
